

Cooperation strategy (EU and Non-EU) of the University of Applied Police Sciences) - Erasmus+

Erasmus+-Code: D DRESDEN13

Corresponding to the international cooperation strategy of the University of Applied Police Sciences, key action 1 (KA 1) of the Erasmus+ programme can be recognised as a central element for the promotion of mobility measures.

1. Mobility of Staff: Lecturers for the purpose of exchanging teaching methods and specific knowledge, by integrating lecturers (incoming and outgoing) into teaching and research, trainees as university staff within the scope of their Bachelor curriculum, administrative staff of all hierarchy levels within the context of international cooperation to strengthen internationality, professional experience as well as for reasons of personal development

2. Students (only incoming): Within the scope of pursued common study courses, possibly extension of internships abroad to promote an international and interdisciplinary knowledge acquisition in the context of Higher Education.

The planned mutual implementation of sustainable and innovative educational collaborations within the scope of key action 2 (KA 2) aim to develop global and universal solution approaches with our international partners to cope with new social challenges and tasks for Saxon Police Force.
